ALL SOULS' DAY REFLECTIONS

*For stern as death is love
relentless as the nether world is devotion;
its flames are a blazing fire.*

- Song of Songs 8:6

"BELOVED SOULS AND SYMPATHETIC STRANGERS"

There is "something" that bridges the abyss that divides religions and cultures. There is "something" that unites past and present, the living and the dead. Am I being naive or simple minded if I say that "something" is LOVE? Some of my most beautiful experiences have begun with the unfamiliar. I am the outsider-- the foreigner. In 1993, a group of Chinese Catholics invited me to share a "veneration of ancestors." My art teacher helped me to participate by inscribing tablets with the names of my non-Chinese ancestors. The ritual was Chinese, the intention fully Catholic, the result, mind-opening and heart-expanding prayer! I am grateful for the experience!

At a Japanese O-Bon Festival, one can be a Gaijin (a foreigner), and still be moved as families decorate the tombs of their beloved dead with lanterns or set those lanterns adrift in rivers or the sea. The powerful message is one of remembrance, but it is also a "welcome home" to departed loved ones. The mood at Bon Odori--ritual dances to honor the dead -- is that of celebration, not mourning. To the beat of a large taiko drum, the dances of O-Bon express gratitude for the ordinary life shared with ancestors. The dances demonstrate kimochi or feelings. While I am usually a step behind when I join in, there is a wonderful awareness of fellowship and tradition in the dance. The odd part about my own participation was that it made me intensely and joyfully aware of my Polish grandmother. She was the only person I ever knew who could wash dishes and dance at the same time. In my more analytical moments, I know that Tanko Bushi and Jedzie Boat defy comparison. Even so, remembrance, gratitude, tradition and life itself unite us in a great mystery. And the "Dance" goes on!

"SHARING THE WEALTH"

Mexico has some of the most colorful customs of All Souls' Day. Culturally, All Souls' Day in Mexico can shock even "partial puritans" with its outrageous defiance of the "Grim Reaper."

It is not uncommon to see adults and children munching on candy coffins and cakes that look like skulls. One can buy and collect amusing tableaux of skeletons dancing, on a bus or in a poker game.

Gathering at the cemetery, families decorate graves with colorful flowers, candles and food. Picnics are common. Poems are read and songs composed about the deceased. At home too, photographs are enshrined. Candles, flowers and food are presented.

The tradition of the Dia de los Muertos may be puzzling and seem irreverent to some. Is there a "common denominator" with other ways of honoring the dead? Is it not love that draws families together to celebrate the lives of the dead and pray for their eternal happiness? I am especially grateful to Fr. Jesus Aguirre-Garza, O.F.M. for sharing insights into the customs of his people. Fr. Jesus, when I heard from him last, was a missionary in Morocco. I am certain he has met Muslims who have shared their regard for their deceased family members with him. Their ways are not like those in Mexico, but they are still about love.

"ANCESTRAL GRAVITY"

As we prepare to celebrate the Fest of All Souls, I continue to search for new discoveries about how people--and especially Catholics--honor the dead. While my Polish roots stretch back 127 years, I too am drawn to the ways of my ancestors.

In Poland, All Souls' Day is called Zaduszki. Faith and folklore harmonize. Even in the days of Communism, so strong was the tradition of honoring the dead that on November 1 and 2 almost everyone was on holiday.

Zaduszki is a "homecoming." Roads are crowded and traffic almost impossible. But returning to one's origins is a "pilgrimage" to one's core identity. It is worth the sacrifice.

Churches offer Masses for the deceased as in other Catholic countries, but in Poland there is also a tradition of praying the Rosary while reciting the names of the deceased (Wypominki).

In former times, there was a special " Bread of the Dead" baked. A meal of remembrance was held to unite families spiritually with their deceased loved ones. Places were set for the deceased and food served in their honor. Leftovers and loaves of fresh bread were distributed to beggars (dziady), who gathered at cemeteries to pray for and honor the dead.

At cemeteries, even today, graves are decorated with bright Autumn flowers and a profusion of colorful votive candles. Cemeteries are crowded, often through the night, as the faithful keep vigil. Quiet prayerfulness and flickering candles dramatize more than pious wishes for the dead, they are symbols of a love that is

*"as stern as death...
its flames ... a blazing fire."*

As we honor our beloved dead as Catholic Christians, common faith strengthens us. As we express our rich cultural diversity, common humanity insures our growth in God's Spirit.

November 2008

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ:

For over thirty-eight years, the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) has been a living example of our Church's social teaching. This year, CCHD is funding twenty-one organizations that work to address the root causes of poverty with seniors, youth, immigrants, people with disabilities and low-wage workers in Cook and Lake Counties.

Please make a special effort during this Thanksgiving season to give generously to the CCHD's Collection on November 22-23. Your contribution will enable the poor to achieve greater dignity and to build God's kingdom of justice and peace. One hundred percent of the CCHD budget comes from individual donations - of any size - just like yours. Your contribution does make a powerful difference. May God bless you for your support of the Catholic Campaign for Human Development.

You and those you love are in my prayers; please keep me in yours.

Fraternally yours in Christ,
Francis Cardinal George, O.M.I.
Archbishop of Chicago

CATHOLIC CAMPAIGN FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT (CCHD)

For 37 million Americans, there is a thin line:

"Thus says
the Lord God:
Put away violence and
oppression,
and do what is right and just!"
Ezekiel 45:9

between eviction
and home,
between hunger
and health,
between unemployment
and work,
between anxiety
and stability.

This line is the Poverty Line.

You can help strengthen families and communities.

October: Breast Cancer Awareness Month Part 3 – Risk Factors We Can Change

There are lifestyle-related factors that can contribute to a woman's risk for developing breast cancer. Being aware of them, she can control some of her chances. Read on!

- Childbearing – Women who never were pregnant or delivered a child after age 30 have a slightly higher risk. Bearing more children and earlier in life may lower the chances. This may be related to having fewer menstrual cycles.
- Birth Control Pills – Women on the pill have higher risks than women who never took it. The longer a woman is "off" her risks can decrease.
- Hormone Replacement Therapy (HRT) – Use of estrogen/ progesterone-based HRT over several or more years increases a woman's risk. This decreases within five years after stopping. Although ERT – Estrogen Replacement Therapy – may not increase the risk for breast cancer, it CAN raise the risk for developing uterine or ovarian cancer. A woman who needs to be on either form of hormone replacement should consult with her doctor.

- Breast-feeding – Breast-feeding, especially if continued for 1½ to 2 years, can lower a woman's risk.
- Alcohol – Alcohol consumption is “clearly linked To an increased risk of developing breast cancer. The risk increases with the amount of alcohol consumed.” (1) Even one drink a day can very slightly raise the chance. Two to five drinks a day raises the risk 1½ times!
- Weight – Overweight or obese women are at increased risk, particularly after menopause. This has to do with the fact that fat tissue makes some estrogen. After menopause, the fat cells continue to do so while the ovaries stop. The more fat tissue a woman has, the more estrogen is present. Thus chances are higher!
- Physical Activity – The more “physical” a woman is could lessen her chances for breast cancer. The amount needed is unknown although a study showed “as little as 1.25 to 2.5 hours per week of brisk walking reduced...risk 18%.” (1) Currently, the ACS (American Cancer Society) suggests “45-60 minutes of intentional physical activity 5 or more days a week.” (1)

There are other factors that may contribute, but they remain unproven. Included are high-fat diet, antiperspirants, bras, implants, exposure to environmental chemicals, smoking and working the night shift. (1)

For other information on breast cancer – risks, prevention, diagnosis and treatment – contact the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345 or go to www.cancer.org For emotional support for anyone affected by breast cancer, contact the Breast Cancer Network of Strength (formerly known as Y-Me National Breast Cancer Organization) at 312-364-9071 or www.networkofstrength.org.

Happy

A PRAYER FOR OUR NATION AS WE PRPARE TO ELECT OUR LEADERS

O God, we acknowledge you today as Lord,
Not only of individuals, but of nations and governments.

We thank you for the privilege
Of being able to organize ourselves politically
And of knowing that political loyalty
Does not have to mean disloyalty to you.

We thank you for your law,
Which our Founding Fathers acknowledged
And recognize as higher than human law.

We thank you for the opportunity that this election year puts before us,
To exercise our solemn duty not only to vote,
But to influence countless others to vote,
And to vote correctly.

Lord, we pray that your people may be awakened..
Let them realize that while politics is not their salvation,
Their response to you requires that they be politically active.

Awaken your people to know that they are not called to be a sect fleeing the world
But rather a community of faith renewing the world.

Awaken them that the same hands lifted up to you in prayer
Are the hands that pull the lever in the voting booth;
That the same eyes that read your Word
Are the eyes that read the names on the ballot, And that they do not cease to be Christians
When they enter the voting booth..

Awaken your people to a commitment to justice
To the sanctity of marriage and the family,
To the dignity of each individual human life.
And to the truth that human rights begin when human life begins,
And not one moment later.

We ask this through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

ADDING NAMES TO THE PARISH SICK LIST

It has always been the policy of St. Isaac Jogues to offer our parish community an opportunity to pray for those parishioners who are ill and in need of our prayers. We have tried to keep close track of these names for our Bulletin as they are made available to us.

However, now we face an important privacy issue, very much like the issues faced by hospitals, health institutions, and certainly by other parishes.

We cannot (by law) publicly let our parish community know the health status of any of our members without their permission.

We appreciate the fact that often friends, neighbors, and acquaintances wish to do something special for a person who is ill, and ask to place their name on the list to be prayed for. While their intentions are surely good, we simply can no longer accept names in this manner.

We will institute a new process regarding calling in names for the Bulletin list.

Names for the sick list placed in the Bulletin have to be called in by the person who is ill, or by a member of their family. At the time they call in the name, they will be asked whether they are the sick person him/ herself, or a member of their family, and if they give permission for the name to be placed on the list. They will be asked for the correct spelling of the sick person’s name. If a family member, they will be required to give their name for our records.

Thank you for your patience regarding this new process. We wish to do all we can to offer our parish community the opportunity to offer prayers for those who are ill — but we must also be cognizant of the fact that all members of our congregation are entitled to their privacy in this regard.
